

Checklist: Documents Required for Admission to New Zealand Universities

- 1. Valid Passport
 - \circ $\;$ Ensure your passport is valid for at least six months beyond your intended stay.
 - \circ $\;$ Photocopies of the passport's identification pages.
- 2. Recent Passport-Sized Photos
 - Typically 2-4 recent photos (size 35mm x 45mm) meeting visa or university requirements.
- 3. University Application Form
 - Complete the application form (online or offline, depending on the university).
 - Include any necessary supplementary application forms.
- 4. Proof of English Proficiency
 - English test scores (IELTS, TOEFL, PTE Academic, etc.).
 - \circ $\;$ Ensure scores are valid (most tests are valid for two years).
- 5. Competitive Exam Scores (if required)
 - Scores from exams like SAT, GRE, or GMAT (if applicable to your program).
- 6. Statement of Purpose (SOP)
 - Tailor it specifically to the university and program you're applying for.
- 7. Letters of Recommendation
 - Typically, 2-3 letters from professors, employers, or mentors.
 - Ensure the letters are signed and printed on official letterhead.
- 8. Academic Transcripts
 - Official transcripts from previous educational institutions.
 - Certified copies of any relevant diplomas or certificates.
- 9. Proof of Financial Support
 - \circ $\;$ Bank statements showing proof of funds for tuition and living expenses.
 - Scholarship or sponsorship letters (if applicable).
- 10. Health Insurance
- Proof of adequate health insurance coverage for the duration of your studies.
- 11. Medical and Health Certificates (if required)
- A medical examination certificate as per New Zealand immigration rules.
- A chest x-ray certificate if required by immigration authorities.
- 12. Character Certificate (if required)
- Police clearance or a good conduct certificate from your home country.

•

This checklist will help prospective students ensure they have all the required documents in order for a successful admission process to universities in New Zealand.

